

Representative Legal Matters

Kristen E. Lloyd

- Advising a fashion company on compliance with third party subpoenas and trial testimony related to a proposed acquisition.
- Advising an e-commerce website on compliance with a third party subpoena related to a Section 2 antitrust litigation.
- Advising an agricultural chemical company on compliance with third party subpoenas related to Section 1 antitrust litigation.
- Representing a US environmental data provider against antitrust counterclaims alleging monopolization, standard manipulation, exclusive dealing, product bundling, and sham litigation.
- Representing a major luxury fashion brand against a no poach class action. Defendants' motion to dismiss was granted and an appeal is ongoing.
- Represented a large US medical company against antitrust and trade secret allegations and resolved the case with a motion to dismiss victory.
- Defended a Japanese suspension assemblies manufacturer in In re: Hard Disk Drive Suspension Assemblies Antitrust Litigation (MDL 2918) in the Northern District of California alleging price-fixing claims.
- Represented a technology company in arbitration dispute alleging antitrust claims resulting in dismissal of the antitrust claims.
- Advising a US airline on compliance with a third party subpoena related to an acquisition in the airline industry.
- Advising a US software company on compliance with a third party subpoena related to FTC antitrust allegations against a large social media company.
- Advised a global publishing company on compliance with a third-party subpoena related to an acquisition in the publishing industry.
- Advised a manufacturer of consumer products on the US antitrust aspects of commercial distribution contracts and a minimum advertising pricing policy.

Prior to joining the Firm, Kristen:

- Trial counsel for Patterson Companies, Inc. in several federal court cases accusing the company of conspiring with its primary rivals to fix prices and boycott buying groups. The team achieved favorable settlements in two separate competitor boycott cases (SourceOne and IQ Dental, E.D.N.Y.), and resolved an FTC lawsuit, after an eight-week administrative trial, with no monetary penalty or independent monitor.

Baker McKenzie.

- Defended a Fortune 500 medical supply company against criminal investigation by US Attorney's Office relating to sales of restricted pharmaceutical products and related practices.
- Counsel for Zydus Pharmaceuticals in an action brought in New Jersey federal court alleging sham litigation in violation of Section 2 of the Sherman Act.